

Barolo D.O.C.G. RISERVA Rocche dell'Annunziata

The Wine

Rocche dell'Annunziata is the Barolo Riserva of the Scavino family. An historical, prestigious "grand cru" from La Morra village purchased in 1990.

Rocche dell'Annunziata is all about finesse, details, weightless elegance. It's a symphony of ethereal aromas with harmonic motions. Rose petals, violet, lilac, tar, sweet red cherries, mint, minerals are some of the hallmarks of this beautiful cru. In the texture silk veils, layers that overlap with extraordinary grace yet offering intensity.

Grand allure is the Rocche dell'Annunziata.

This Barolo is normally aged one further year in large cask and one year more in bottle compared with the other Barolo of the Domaine.

The Vineyard

Village: La Morra

Cru: Rocche dell'Annunziata

Altitude, Exposure: 385 mt, south-south east

Soil: calcareous with very hard sandstone in depth and soft whitish-light yellow sands in the subsoil intercalated with limestone.

Planting year: 2000, 2010, 2013

The Grape

Nebbiolo